

Rural Ontario Institute Leadership Webinar Series

2012
Rural Community Economic Development

Webinar #2: Economic Gardening

Wednesday May 30, 2012
12:00 - 1:00 pm Eastern Time

For more details and to register visit:
ruralontarioinstitute.ca/leadership

Christine
Hamilton - Pennell

The Economic Gardening webinar will feature Christine Hamilton-Pennell, Founder and President of Growing Local Economies.

Traditional economic development focuses on attracting or recruiting business to a local community. For some communities this may not work. Learn about economic gardening, an entrepreneurial approach to economic development.

Find out how to grow your local economy by supporting entrepreneurs through the delivery of customized research services, appropriate infrastructure and strategic connections.

Hear about some successful Ontario experience from Collingwood where several organizations and programs are supporting entrepreneurs in their region.

The webinar begins at 12:00 p.m. Eastern time, 9:00 a.m. Pacific.

To receive your login information, please register before May 30th at:
ruralontarioinstitute.ca/leadership

Participation is free.

The Rural Community Economic Development Webinar Series is offered by the Rural Ontario Institute. The series of three webinars will feature thought-leaders who have practical experience with an innovative economic development approach at the community or regional level.

The series will enable community economic development practitioners across the province, regardless of geographical location, to access barrier-free information on exciting, new and potentially under-utilized approaches to CED from leaders in the field.

This series is a joint project of:

